sad been in poor health for three years and for the last three months had been seriously ill.

The deceased was born in Austria and in that country fifty years ago she married Jacob Hoinig and they came to this country in 1883, settling in Worcester, from whence they came here seven years ago, Mr. Hoinig being employed by the Hopkins & Allen Arms company. Only two of their eighteen children survive. They are Miss Belle Hoinig of this city and Mrs. Andrew Foley of Worcester.

Mrs. Elisha Allyn.

Mrs. Elisha Allyn died at her home in Ledyard, close to the Groton town line, Monday night. The cause of death was heart fallure. Mrs. Allyn was a widow and for many years lived alone, except when she was, as often occurred, taking care of relatives and friends who were ill in Ledyard or Groton. Before marriage she was Maria Teft and was born in North Stonington. The greater part of her life was spent in Ledyard. Distant relatives live in Groton.

Before leaving Norwich the patrolmen formed a conspiracy of which Sergeant Bergin was ignorant for the time being. He learned the nature of the compiracy when John Donahue arose and in a neat little speech, which he later denied he had prepared beforehand, presented the sergeant with a handsome gold-headed umbrells.

All of the local squad shook hands with the president, but there was a rumor floating around the police station last night that the next time Mr. Taft sees Patrolman John Cavanaugh he will give him one or two fingers to shake instead of his whole hand.

When his turn came to make his bow to the president he was so pleased that he forgot all caution and seized the hand of the president as if he never intended to let go.
